Every day I get a giant bundle of mail from people all over the world. It's wildly entertaining to read all the things people have to say. Maybe one of these days I'll do a response to all the unnamed funny letters. Here are a few:

Q. "have you been sexually assaulted in prison?"

A. Haha ha. No, not since the Judge screwed me. But for real, if you aren't willing to defend yourself with violence, you will get jumped by some hungry homo sooner or later. I've had to fight a few times, but nothing that ended bad for me. Once you are well established in a prison and you've earned the respect of the "solid" convicts (~~meaning non-sexoffenders~~ who are straight and have never switched on anyone) people are less likley to do anything disrespectful to you. Because if they do, they will be "dealt with" by ALL of the solids. This can mean anything from a scolding by some leaders, to being stabbed to death in the shower.

I'll tell you a surprising secret: Everyone in a high security prisons is extremely polite and respectful. I mean as in, British butler polite. This is because disrespectful people get killed by "lifers" who are never getting out and can kill someone then just plead guilty to a 4th life sentence without it changing anything.

Q. "Do you get to go on weekend furloughs?"

A. Obviously this person is not from America. I think I'll commit my next imaginary crime in Norway. It sounds nice over there.

Q. "Can I send your son some vitamins? He looks like he needs vitamins. His eyes have circles around them."

A. By all means, send my boy some Flintstones. But if those circles around his eyes turn into squirts, switch to some other vitamins. I might need some vitamins myself. It's going on 7 years and I could use some vitamin foods. You can't get that in here.

Q. "Do they have church services in there?"

A. In regular prison they do. But I'm in the CMU where you get sent to the hole if they catch you praying. So this is more of a Daniel in Babylon sort of chapter for me.

Q. "How do you get along with the Muslim terrorists?"

A. Fine. I don't like their religion because it's violent and oppressive and dehumanizing. Art is illegal. If you are non-muslim you have no legal rights. Most muslims don't buy into it, but "the super duper muslims" bully the rest into religious subjection. The word "Islam" means "subjugation." The worst of the worst muslims are sunis from Saudi Arabia. If you're a Saudi woman, you're not allowed to have an education, a drivers license, or a clitoris. I'm not joking. They cut girls clits off so they can't have fun. That's how insecure and possessive wahabist muslim men are. And this is who Hillary's State Dep. made an alliance with to defeat president Assad in Syria. Don't forget, Assad is a dentist from London with a smoker hot blond wife. He's Westernized and had a secular government and open country. But the State Department ~~believed Kadhafi in Libya then sent all his captured war supplies to ISIS and Al Quida so they could invade Syria, then Europe, then America.~~ Treason!

So to answer the question of how I get along, fine. They are enemy soldiers. But they are not criminals. I feel bad for them. Their religion is robbing them of the beauty and joy of life that God meant for us to have. But it's not my job to un-pickle their minds. I just be nice and get along. But if by the time I get out, they are pushing their shiria on America, we will have to not be nice!

Q. "What food do you miss most?"

A. Coconut and mango.

Q "Are there any good cops in there?"

A. Actually yes, one or two out of thousands, but yes. There are a few cops who are still human and do their best to treat their fellow man with dignity. But the rest of the cops hate them. The evil hearted cops run the whole show.

Q "How do you keep from going crazy?"

A. I workout for an hour every morning. Then I work on my case and related matters for 8 hours. I read thought provoking books to keep my mind active. I fixate on the things I am grateful for. I take pride in my work. And I find some way to show kindness to others everyday. A loving heart will nourish the mind. A selfish heart will torment the mind to insanity. Kindness is how I stay mentally fit. I love the letters people send me, especially when they send a picture of themselves. Putting a face with the script makes it come to life. So thanks for that.

Thank You everyone,

People continue to put money on my prison commissary account. This is my life-line. Thank you so so much. I've been on phone and email restriction for the last 60 days and unable to hear from people like usual. But when a dollar amount and a last name shows up on my account it's like getting a message in a bottle.

This morning I logged on to the computer and saw a check from Kahn for $100, "No Name" for $107, one for $30, "Triemet" for $200, "owen" for $30, and "Harrison" for $100. My friend was sitting next to me looking over my shoulder. He put his hand on my shoulder and said "Hmmm, You're really loved by a lot of people." He is right. I'm in what is arguably the worst prison on the planet right now, and yet I'm so blessed. I see all of you out there, and it makes my heart feel warm. Good is outshining evil. All will be well. Thank You!
