

Over the summer, it is important to keep using your iPad tools to make sure you don't forget how to use them so that when you go back to school you will feel super-confident and will easily be able to apply your tools to your everyday class work.

To make it fun, I want you to keep a journal of your summer activities. You can use all of your different tools to create your journal which you will keep in Notability. Not only will this give you lots of practice, but you will have a beautiful portfolio illustrating all of the great things that you know how to do with your iPad (your teachers will love this!!).

See the suggestions below for some ideas on how to keep using the different apps in your tool belt over the summer to make sure you don't forget how to use them! Have fun and BE CREATIVE!!

Notability

- In your "iPad Work" folder, create a new note called "My Summer Journal"
- Take lots of pictures of the different things you do and add the pictures to your journal with a brief written description
- If you forget to take pictures (or don't have the opportunity to) while you are out, try using some Google Images instead
- Import a calendar for each month of the summer and fill it out with all of your activities and schedule.

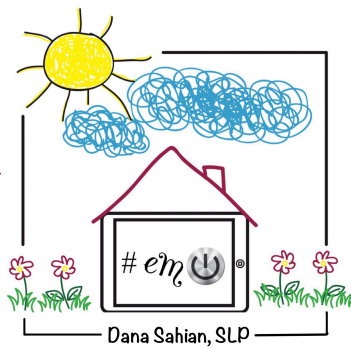

Scanning App

- Scan brochures from places you go and then write about what your favourite thing was about it in Notability
- Scan tickets from movies or other shows you go to see
- See if you can get Prizmo to read a menu to you

Brainstorming/Mind Mapping Tool

- Create a diagram of your packing list for camp or for a vacation in Inspiration and then send the diagram to your journal from Inspiration to Notability
- Check off your, items in Notability, as you pack them
- There is an example in the pages below...

for Individuals with Learning Differences

Dictation and/or Word Prediction Tools

- Write a letter to a friend and use really big, hard to spell words
- Use these tools to help you write journal entries describing some of the pictures you add to your journal

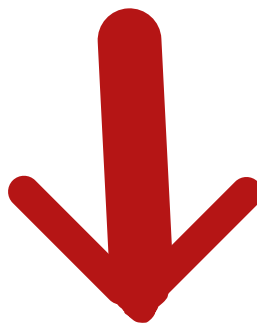

Google Docs

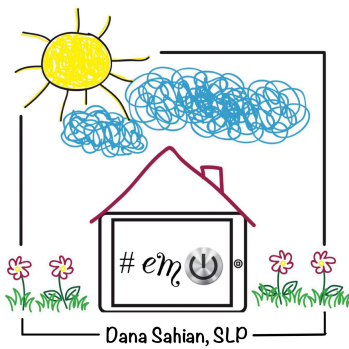

- Share a note with a friend and compose a funny story together - take turns writing one sentence each. Feel free to edit your friend's sentences!!
- Share a note with your sibling or parent and use this to communicate with each other instead of email or texting, for at least a day.

Calendar App

- If you are using a calendar app such as Awesome Calendar, fill it out with your summer schedule.

Below are some ideas to help get you started!

My Summer Journal

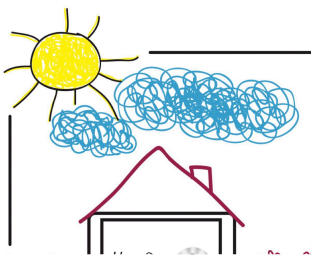

I made this for my teacher's new baby!!

Too cool for words.

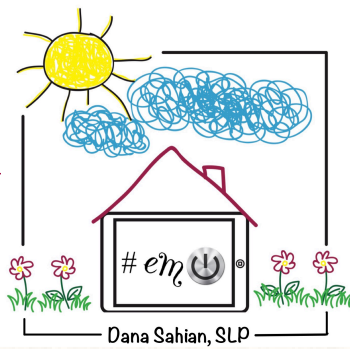

I had a jewellery sale...I made all of the earrings!!

Packing List for Camp

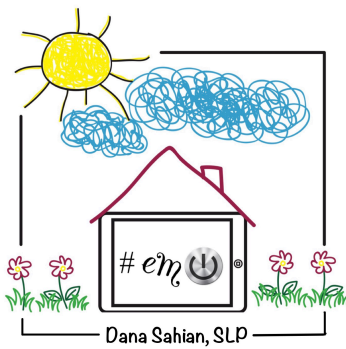

Using the "Web Clip" tool in Notability, import a calendar from Google Images to keep track of your summer activities and schedule.

A fun way to practice using your word prediction and/or dictation tools is to write emails to friends and family.

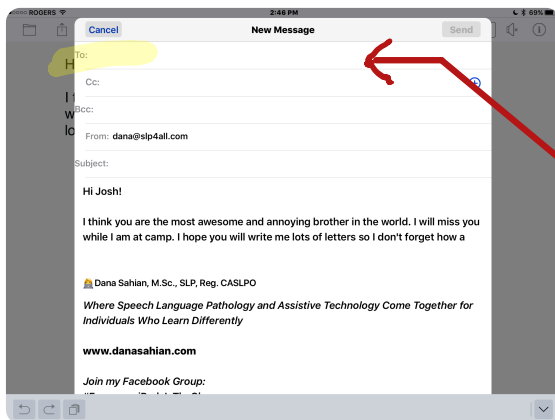

Tool Used: Word Prediction

1) Write your letter

2) Select "Mail"

3) Fill in the "To" field and send it !!

Summer Fun Has Just Begun!!

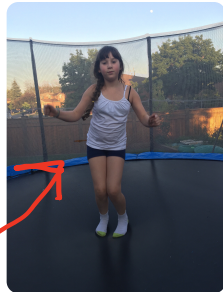

I got some new clothes for camp and our trip to Calgary. I should fit in at the Stampede with my fringes!!

I made earrings and sold them for $2.00 each. I made $18.00!!

This is me jumping on my cousin's trampoline.

We ran into my brother's old teacher at the park and he let him try his juggling balls!

I volunteered at the Premie Picnic with my big brother!
