*Fulfilling inch-loss wishes
...and so much more*

Introducing the

LipoGenie

With three wishes who wouldn't be tempted to ask for a better body?

Non-invasive, natural and drug-free the Lipogenie can reshape your body whether you are looking for general inch-loss or simply to tackle that stubborn area which you just can't budge.

This amazing technology, though only recently introduced, is a fabulous new addition to the well-researched and tested family of low level laser therapies. Clients and clinicians alike are freely praising the remarkable inch-loss results from such a quick and easy treatment.

You can be sure of the expertise behind the Lipogenie, which is manufactured in the UK by Omega Laser Systems Limited. For over 20 years Omega has been one of the leading low level laser companies producing equipment to stringent medical standards.

How does Lipogenie work?

Low level laser is used in general practice around the world for healing, pain relief and non needle acupuncture and has been extensively researched over decades. The laboratory research has demonstrated that varying powers and wavelengths of laser light have different effects on the cells of the body.

With the Lipogenie inch-loss protocols the adipose cells, commonly known as fat cells, react to particular wavelengths of the red laser light delivered at a particular energy density.

The application of this laser light results in the cell producing a lipase enzyme which helps break down the triglyceride cell contents into glycerol and fatty acids. It also makes the cell walls more permeable allowing the fatty acids to pass through them more easily. These fatty acids are then transported via the lymphatic system and become readily available as fuel for the body.

The Lipogenie therefore triggers the natural process of releasing these contents from the fat cells as if the body was calling upon them for its energy. Without their triglyceride content, the fat cells take up less space resulting in the inch-loss effect.

In practical terms the effect is immediate and although a course is recommended for best results measurable inch-loss is generally achieved directly after the first treatment.

The body of evidence for the clinical success of this inch-loss therapy continues to grow as does its popularity with clients, both men and women.

How does it feel?

Totally relaxing - the lasers used work through biochemical responses to light and are quite different from the surgical or hair removal type of laser. Clients don't feel anything except the pleasure of relaxation and confidence that they're on their way to a new shape.

Lipogenic Treatment

Each treatment course begins with a consultation to fully understand the client's wishes and to confirm that there is no reason why treatment wouldn't be appropriate.

Treatment itself consists of the application of red laser light using a number of smooth bars each containing 6 laser diodes which are gently held to the body with fabric wraps. The light passes through the skin without damage or thermal effect and causes the biochemical reaction in the cells. The lymph nodes local to the treatment area are simultaneously stimulated with dedicated lymph probes to aid the transmission of fatty acids away from the area.

Inch loss for all the problem areas is available – waist, midriff, back, hips, thighs, knees, arms, jowls – and the treatment is increasingly popular with men to reduce excess fat around the pectorals - the 'moobs'! Treatment of each problem area requires 10 minutes.

For best results a course of 8 treatments on a twice weekly regime is recommended. Exercise within 12 hours of treatment is required to prevent reabsorption. The provision of an intense 10 minute session post treatment using exercise plates with hydration in the clinic is therefore a useful and convenient option.

The treatment is hands-free so once it has begun the client can be left to relax for the duration.

The Lipogenie results are so impressive that clients not only tell us about it but they tell all their friends too – so the treatment does a great job of promoting itself!

Measurements are taken before and after each treatment and inch-loss is the difference between these. Where multiple areas are being treated all of the differences are combined to give total inch-loss.

"After being weighed, measured and a health-check I had eight, one hour sessions over a period of four weeks. Lost 20" over my torso. Wonderful. Lost my back fat and the fat under my bust down to my waist and stomach. Am going back in a few weeks' time to have tops of arms done too. Self esteem 100%!"

Julie E. from Paignton

"I went as a last resort in an effort to rid myself of extra inches and a horrid fatty lump left after surgery. Not only did I lose 34½ inches but also came away from the experience feeling and looking so much better."

Abi C. from Exeter

Additional Applications

With its extensive experience as a low level laser specialist working in the medical field, Omega is an expert in laser's healing and stimulatory effects. The Lipogenie has been designed to make the most of its technology by accepting a range of additional probes to provide further cosmetic laser therapies derived from medical applications.

When you purchase these additional probe packages which simply plug into the same base unit, your Lipogenie can help you achieve dramatic eye bag and stretch mark reduction and even help people give up smoking, as well as reshaping those curves.

Eye bags

Low intensity laser as delivered by the Lipogenie reduces the appearance of eye bags and of puffiness in the skin around the eyes. Two selected wavelengths are combined to give rapid results.

Stretch marks

Stretch marks which indicate tearing of the dermis often caused by sudden weight loss or gain can sap confidence but the Lipogenie can dramatically improve their visibility by optimising healing of the tissue.

Smoking cessation

Smoking is one of the biggest culprits in aging our skin. Those who would love to give up but struggle with nicotine cravings are ideal candidates for this laser acupuncture application.
