This service addresses the need of taking a personal and holistic view of the client's entire financial situation and creating a customized financial plan that serves as a roadmap or guidepost to achieving the client's goals. As part of the comprehensive financial planning process, we meet with clients to discuss the details of their financial situation, present recommendations to assist the client ascertain their financial goals, and assist with implementing the financial plan. We also will update, monitor and modify the plan as needed. As part of this plan, we generally meet with clients between three to four times to find out the client's entire financial situation.

The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from us.

charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual fund and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in a fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to our fee, and we shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs. Item 12 further describes the factors that we consider in selecting or recommending broker-dealers for client's transactions and determining the reasonableness of their compensation (e.g., commissions). We do not accept compensation for the sale of securities or other investment products including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

D. Fees When Terminating Services

(1) Comprehensive Financial Planning: The initial planning fee is non-refundable, however upon terminating the agreement to provide comprehensive financial planning the client will cease to be billed on the last calendar day of either: (1) the month of their termination, or (2) the month of last payment by client.

The date of your written termination will be used to process a pro-rata refund of unearned advisory fees.

E. Commissionable Securities Sales: DJHCM does not engage in commissionable securities sales at this time.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

DJHCM does not accept performance based fees at this time.

Item 7 Types of Clients

We provide services to individuals, high net worth individuals and small businesses.

We do not have a minimum account size requirement.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our Investment Method & Strategies:

We primarily practice passive investment management. Passive investing involves building portfolios that are comprised of various distinct asset classes. The asset classes are weighted in a manner to achieve a desired relationship between correlation, risk and return. Funds that passively capture the returns of the desired asset classes are placed in the portfolio. The funds that are used to build passive portfolios are typically index mutual funds or exchange traded funds. Passive investment management is characterized by low portfolio expenses

(i.e. the funds inside the portfolio have low internal costs), minimal trading costs (due to infrequent trading activity), and relative tax efficiency (because the funds inside the portfolio are tax efficient and turnover inside the portfolio is minimal). In contrast, active management involves a single manager or managers who employ some method, strategy or technique to construct a portfolio that is intended to generate returns that are greater than the broader market or a designated benchmark. Academic research indicates most active managers underperform the market.

There are material risks involved all investing strategies that we offer that may result in a loss of your original investment which you should be prepared to bear. Many of these risks apply equally to stocks, bonds, commodities and any other investment or security.

Material risks associated with our investment strategies are listed below.

- Market Risk: Market risk involves the possibility that an investment's current market value will fall because of a general market decline, reducing the value of the investment regardless of the operational success of the issuer's operations or its financial condition. Strategy Risk: The Adviser's investment strategies and/or investment techniques may not work as intended.
- Company Risk: Securities of companies with small and medium market capitalizations are often more volatile and less liquid than investments in larger companies. Small and medium cap companies may face a greater risk of business failure, which could increase the volatility of the client's portfolio.
- Interest Rate or Duration Risk: Bond (fixed income) prices generally fall when interest rates rise, and the value may fall below par value or the principal investment. The opposite is also generally true: bond prices generally rise when interest rates fall. In general, fixed income securities with longer maturities are more sensitive to these price changes. Most other investments are also sensitive to the level and direction of interest rates.
- Legal or Legislative Risk: Legislative changes or Court rulings may impact the value of investments, or the securities' claim on the issuer's assets and finances.
- Inflation Risk: Inflation may erode the buying-power of your investment portfolio, even if the dollar value of your investments remains the same.

Apart from the general risks outlined above which apply to all types of investments, specific securities may have other risks.

Commercial Paper is, in most cases, an unsecured promissory note that is issued with a maturity of 270 days or less. Being unsecured the risk to the investor is that the issuer may default.

Common stocks may go up and down in price quite dramatically, and in the event of an issuer's bankruptcy or restructuring could lose all value. A slower-growth or recessionary economic environment could have an adverse effect on the price of all stocks.

Corporate Bonds are debt securities to borrow money. Generally, issuers pay investors periodic interest and repay the amount borrowed either periodically during the life of the security and/or at maturity. Alternatively, investors can purchase other debt securities, such as zero coupon bonds, which do not pay current interest, but rather are priced at a discount from their face values and their values accrete over time to face value at maturity. The market prices of debt securities fluctuate depending on such factors as interest rates, credit quality, and maturity. In general, market prices of debt securities decline when interest rates rise and increase when interest rates fall. The longer the time to a bond's maturity, the greater its interest rate risk.

Bank Obligations including bonds and certificates of deposit may be vulnerable to setbacks or panics in the banking industry. Banks and other financial institutions are greatly affected by interest rates and may be adversely affected by downturns in the U.S. and foreign economies or changes in banking regulations.

Municipal Bonds are debt obligations generally issued to obtain funds for various public purposes, including the construction of public facilities. Municipal bonds pay a lower rate of return than most other types of bonds. However, because of a municipal bond's tax-favored status, investors should compare the relative after-tax return to the after-tax return of other bonds, depending on the investor's tax bracket. Investing in municipal bonds carries the same general risks as investing in bonds in general. Those risks include interest rate risk, reinvestment risk, inflation risk, market risk, call or redemption risk, credit risk, and liquidity and valuation risk.

Exchange Traded Funds prices may vary significantly from the Net Asset Value due to market conditions. Certain Exchange Traded Funds may not track underlying benchmarks as expected.

Investment Companies Risk. When a client invests in open end mutual funds or ETFs, the client indirectly bears its proportionate share of any fees and expenses payable directly by those funds. Therefore, the client will incur higher expenses, many of which may be duplicative. In addition, the client's overall portfolio may be affected by losses of an underlying fund and the level of risk arising from the investment practices of an underlying fund (such as the use of derivatives). ETFs are also subject to the following risks: (i) an ETF's shares may trade at a market price that is above or below their net asset value; (ii) the ETF may employ an investment strategy that utilizes high leverage ratios; or (iii) trading of an ETF's shares may be halted if the listing exchange's officials deem such action appropriate, the shares are de-listed from the exchange, or the activation of market-wide "circuit breakers" (which are tied to large decreases in stock prices) halts stock trading generally. The Adviser has no control over the risks taken by the underlying funds in which client's invest.

Item 9 Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of DJHCM or the integrity of our management. We have no information applicable to this item.

Item 10 Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

- A. Neither DJHCM, nor its representatives, are registered or have an application pending to register, as a broker-dealer or a registered representative of a broker-dealer.
- B. Neither DJHCM, nor its representatives, are registered or have an application pending to register, as a futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, a commodity trading advisor, or a representative of the foregoing.
- C. DJHCM may have representatives that may also be licensed as insurance agents. From time to time, they may offer insurance products and receive customary fees as a result of insurance sales. A conflict of interest may arise as these insurance sales may create an incentive to recommend products based on the compensation adviser and/or our supervised persons may earn and may not necessarily be in the best interests of the client. In each instance, DJHCM will evaluate whether or not such offerings are: (i) in the best interest of the client, and (ii) fully disclosed to the client at the time of sale/offering. Neither DJHCM, nor its representatives, recommend or select other investment advisers for clients and receive compensation directly or indirectly.

Item 11 Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

- A. DJHCM maintains an investment policy relative to personal securities transactions. This investment policy is part of our overall Code of Ethics, which serves to establish a standard of business conduct for all of our current and future representatives that is based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty and trust, a copy of which is available upon request. In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, DJHCM also maintains and enforces written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by DJHCM or any person associated with DJHCM.
- B. Neither DJHCM nor any related person of ours recommends, buys, or sells for client accounts, securities in which DJHCM or any related person of ours has a material financial interest.
- C. DJHCM and/or representatives of DJHCM may invest in securities that are also recommended to clients. This practice may create a situation where DJHCM and/or representatives of DJHCM are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. Practices such as “scalping” (i.e., a practice whereby the owner of shares of a security recommends that security for investment and then immediately sells it at a profit upon the rise in the market price which follows the recommendation) could take place if DJHCM did not have adequate policies in place to detect such activities. In addition, this requirement can help detect insider trading, “front-running” (i.e., personal trades executed before those of DJHCM’s clients) and other potentially abusive practices.

DJHCM has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transactions and securities holdings of each of DJHCM’s “representatives”. DJHCM’s securities transaction policy requires that each representative of DJHCM must provide a supervising person or his/her designee with transaction confirmations and/or account statements upon request. However, at any time that DJHCM has only one representative, he or she shall not be required to submit any securities report described above.

- D. DJHCM and/or representatives of DJHCM may recommend securities to clients, at or around the same time as those securities are bought or sold by DJHCM and/or representatives. This practice creates a situation where DJHCM and/or representatives of DJHCM are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. As indicated above in Item 11C, DJHCM has a personal securities transaction policy in place to monitor the personal securities transaction and securities holdings of each of representative.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

- A. DJHCM does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage or on which we advise, although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw advisory fees from your account (see Item 15—Custody, below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. We recommend that our clients use Shareholders Service Group, Inc. (“SSG”) as the qualified custodian. We are independently owned and operated and are not affiliated with SSG. SSG will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we and/or you instruct them to.

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to recommend a custodian/broker that will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are, overall, most advantageous when compared with other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including:

- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account) itself or to facilitate such services.
- Capability to facilitate timely transfers and payments to and from accounts.
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions.
- Quality of services.
- Competitiveness of the price of those services and willingness to negotiate the prices.
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability.

Your Brokerage And Custody Costs

We have determined that having SSG Institutional, Inc. execute trades is consistent with our duty to seek “best execution” of your trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above (see “How we select brokers/custodians”). Therefore, we generally don’t allow directed brokerage for our clients, however, we may at our discretion, make accommodations per client requests.

Requests for Directed Brokerage

Not all advisers require their clients to direct brokerage. If DJHCM and the requested broker-dealer are affiliates or have another economic relationship that creates a material conflict of interest, this will be disclosed and given to the client in writing. By directing brokerage, DJHCM may be unable to achieve the most favorable execution of client transactions, and this practice may cost clients more money. In any instances, where DJHCM honors a client request to direct brokerage, we will evaluate the costs for our “normal” brokerage procedures in relation to the costs associated with the directed brokerage and relay those to the client. In the event, that the client insists on using the directed brokerage, we will document each transaction and a summary of the conversation for the client’s file.

Block Trading/Trade Order Aggregation

- B. To the extent that DJHCM provides investment advisory services to its clients, the transactions for each client account generally will be effected independently, unless DJHCM decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. DJHCM may (but is not obligated to) combine or “bunch” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates or to allocate equitably among DJHCM's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will be averaged as to price and will be allocated among clients in proportion to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client account on any given day. DJHCM shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of such aggregation.

Item 13 Review of Accounts

Client Account Reviews

A. For those clients to whom we provide only comprehensive financial planning, they will be subject to the firm's client service calendar by which account reviews, updates and correspondence will be conducted. The firm's client service calendar consists of multiple updates for the client throughout the year (to include, but not limited to):

- Two (2) financial plan reviews;
- Four (4) quarterly newsletters;

For those clients to whom we provide only investment advisory services, account reviews are conducted on a quarterly basis. For those clients utilizing both comprehensive financial planning and investment advisory service, they will be subject to the firm's service calendar which includes monthly, quarterly, semi-annual as well as annual interactions. Review meetings will consist of at least a discussion of the objectives of the client's investment policy statement, and/or their written financial planning document. Client reviews will only be conducted by licensed and trained representatives that are supervised by DJHCM. Currently those individuals are: Dominique J. Henderson, Sr. (Owner).

- B. All clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise us of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All clients (in person or via telephone) are encouraged to review financial planning issues (to the extent applicable), investment objectives and account performance with us at least on an annual basis.
- C. We may conduct account reviews upon the occurrence of a triggering event, such as a change in client investment objectives and/or financial situation, market corrections and client request.

Clients are provided, at least quarterly, with electronic or written transaction confirmation notices and regular electronic or written summary account statements directly from the broker-dealer/custodian for the client accounts. We may also provide an electronic or written periodic report summarizing account activity and performance.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

- A. We do not receive an economic benefit from any non-clients for providing investment advice or financial planning services.

- B. We do not pay referral fees for client referrals.

Item 15 Custody

Under government regulations, we are deemed to have custody of your assets if, for example, you authorize us to instruct the custodian (“SSG”) to deduct our advisory fees directly from your account. SSG maintains actual custody of your assets. Your statements will be available for you to review on the activity section of the custodian’s account portal. You will also receive account statements directly from SSG at least quarterly. Any statements with your account information produced by us or the custodian should be compared and carefully reviewed promptly.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

We accept discretionary authority to manage client accounts. Our clients must sign an Investment Advisory Agreement explicitly granting this discretion to our firm for the management of these types of accounts. Clients who engage us on a discretionary basis may, at anytime, impose restrictions, in writing, on the our discretionary authority (i.e. limit the types/amounts of particular securities purchased for their account, exclude the ability to purchase securities with an inverse relationship to the market, limit or prohibit our use of margin, etc.).

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

- A. DJHCM does not vote client proxies. Clients maintain exclusive responsibility for:
 - directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities owned by the client shall be voted, and
 - making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client’s investment assets.
- B. Clients will receive their proxies or other solicitations directly from their custodian. Clients may contact DJHCM to discuss any questions they may have with a particular solicitation.

Item 18 Financial Information

- A. DJHCM does not require clients to pre-pay fees of more than $1,200, per client, six months or more in advance.

- B. DJHCM is unaware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments relating to its discretionary authority over certain client accounts.
- C. DJHCM has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
