Subject: Letter for Heroin kills organization

I want to thank the heroin kills organization from the bottom of my heart. My son is a heroin addict and our family has been trying to find help for my son for quite some time. We kept hitting one brick wall after another. There is just not enough help out there for people that are in dire need. We would call facility after facility being passed from one person to another to another. Leaving messages waiting for people to call us back, they never did. Then being told by some place that my son doesn't fit the criteria because "to them" he doesn't use enough bags of heroin in a day to be in the facility!!! Are you kidding me I think 10 to 25 bags a day is enough, ONE bag is too many!!!! And then we run into problems because my Son has insurance through the state all of the places that we contact did not except his state insurance for residential care so there's another dilemma.

Over this past weekend I felt such despair such a feeling of doom. I felt that my son was going to die and there was nothing I could do to help him my heart was breaking, Even more for my granddaughter my sons three-year-old daughter. I don't want her to grow up without her father, she absolutely adores him.

I came across a post on a Facebook group page from a member of heroin kills organization, at that very moment I had a sense of hope I immediately reached out and within minutes I received a message back with a phone number. That phone number put me in touch with a man by the name of Red, the founder of heroin kills. I immediately called him and we made arrangements to bring my son to meet with him to discuss going to detox he spent hours with us and was able to convince my son to go into detox. There Was also another wonderful person there a woman who's son is an addict and she also spoke with my son and myself and my husband and what she had to say really made an impact on my son. So I reached out to this organization on Saturday we met with the founder on Sunday and my son was in detox by Monday, my son could have been in detox the day that we met on Sunday, but it was his choice to go on Monday. I am forever grateful to heroin kills organization my son would not be in detox today without the help of this organization I can't thank Red enough for all of his help for taking the time out of his busy life to take my son to detox to personally drive him there I could never thank this man enough, to me he is an angel!!

Thanks to this organization heroin kills I have hope for my son for the first time in three years. I know that this is just the beginning of a long long road but I have hope and faith because of this wonderful organization I just can't say Thank you enough! Not only has this Organization helped my son they have also helped my husband and myself this organization has helped us as a family we have been given multiple numbers to call for support. I have now plenty of meetings that I can go to people that I can talk to. This organization has gone above and beyond to make sure that we all have the help that we need.

With much Love and gratitude
Thank you, from a Mom who loves her son~
