Hunting Clothing

Spring bear hunts can give you various types of weather from 32°F to 70°F. It can snow and most probably it'll rain sometime during the hunt.

Deer hunting in November can be a shock to the system with temperatures between 40°F and -30°F and a great possibility of snow.

In Saskatchewan it is required to wear a certain color of clothing on the upper half of your body. We have white pullovers to accommodate the dress code if necessary.
