

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 10th, 2017 | Hayesville, North Carolina

HOME INSPECTOR TRADES SNAKE STICK FOR PEN Unique Perspective Entertains Homeowners

25% off at Book Signing Friday, July 14th, 2017

Clay County Progress Offices 1-2pm
Farmers' Market Clay County Chamber of Commerce Booth 2-5pm

Clay County Chamber Member Lisa Turner shares the secrets of preventable expenses of home ownership in House Keys: Tips and Tricks from a Female Home Inspector. From leaking gas furnaces to missing structure on custom homes, Lisa Turner details what can go wrong and how to stop it from taking a big bite out of homeowners' wallets.

Less than 1.6% of all professional home inspectors are female. Turner's unique perspective after seeing hundreds of owner and contractor errors allows her to explain how to do it right.

Turner is the home improvement columnist for the Clay County Progress in Hayesville, NC. The advice in this book assembles the best articles from the last ten years.

All of the articles in House Keys were written with Hayesville and the surrounding environs of Clay County as a backdrop. Unique pencil drawings populate the pages, and local readers participate in the book through stories and questions.

Turner will be offering 25% off signed copies of her book on Friday, July 14th at the Clay County Progress newspaper office from 1-2pm, and at the Clay County Chamber of Commerce booth from 2-5pm.

Read more at <https://www.housekeysbylisaturner.com>.

-END-